

Communications Plan Template Guidance

This following information should be used to guide the development of your funded programs proposed annual Media, Marketing and Communications Strategy and Implementation Plan to Health and Wellbeing Queensland.

Note – if your organisation produces a similar document as part of its annual communications planning, please submit those existing plans rather than recreating a new one.

The section headings and detail prompts ensures a clear, consistent, and evidence-informed approach to communications that aligns with your program objectives, supports public health outcomes, and meets the expectations of funding partners. The plan provides a structured framework to coordinate messaging, engage priority audiences, maximise program visibility, and monitor communication impact over the course of the year.

By supplying this information, Health and Wellbeing Queensland will be able to provide strategic marketing advice to help you achieve your objectives, as well as identify opportunities for collaboration, crosspromotion and cost-saving with Health and Wellbeing Queensland and its other community-based prevention programs.

For any assistance with this template please contact the Prevention Programs Team on PreventionPrograms@hw.qld.gov.au.
